Feel good at home disana

Blankets and cushions for cuddle and a good feeling

Merino sheep down in southern South America provide one of the finest wool in the world. This wool and fabrics made of it are invitingly soft to the touch, incredibly light and with a fine gloss. Merino wool is also especially suited to materials finished using the boiling process. The careful felting of the knitted fabric turns the particularly fine fibres and highly crinkled hairs of the wool into a very special material – disana boiled wool.

disana boiled wool is wonderfully fluffy and thick with a delightfully even matt gloss to its surface – ideal for premium blankets and cushion covers.

Especially wide and long, our blankets are big enough for lots of cosy hours relaxing on an armchair or settee. The soft merino wool makes the blanket pleasantly soft to drape over you, it hugs you cosily. A joy for body and soul.

Noble in natural and grey or cheerful and colourful the blankets and cushion covers made of our disana boiled wool will fit all houses and furnishing.

Like all disana products we produce the “at home” range exclusively at our base in Southern Germany. We follow the ecological guidelines of the International Association of Natural Textile Industry concerning the choice of raw materials and the whole processing chain.
